

Improve Productivity and Collaboration with Symphony's Jira and Confluence Integrations

With so many tools available to help keep track of product development, bug tracking, and project management, it's easy to spend most of your time logging in and out of systems in order to stay updated on projects.

With Symphony's real-time communication platform we offer Confluence and Jira integrations that helps you manage projects using multiple tools all from one platform.

Use the Jira integration to:

- Connect directly with JIRA from within a Symphony chat room
- Assign tasks within Symphony to JIRA
- Customize notifications for each of your projects so you are updated on only the projects you choose to be updated on

Use the Confluence integration to:

- Subscribe to Confluence spaces from within a Symphony chat room
- Create a customized Confluence news page to keep updated on all changes to the space you follow
- Customize notifications by specifying the activities you want to be notified of within each Space and Page you're subscribed to

With Jira and Confluence for Symphony you can save time and reduce context switching. Check out our website for more about our new integrations.

Discover Files Faster with In-Room Search

In-Room Search, a new feature on Symphony, helps you quickly access files such as trade documents faster. Find specific files by searching for the file name or keywords using the in-room search feature in the dedicated chat room.

Learn more about our new features here.

Symphony in the News

Last month, we announced our latest round of funding of $165 million USD which will be used to bolster global expansion and invest in workflow automation. This funding brings Symphony's total capital raised to date to over $460 million USD from the world's leading financial services firms, global venture capital funds, and technology companies.
