Symphony Meetings Now Available to Android Users

We introduced Symphony Meetings for iOS earlier this year and we've received enthusiastic feedback from users about the app--especially the feature that allows you to start a meeting instantly from an existing chat. We recently announced that the Symphony Meetings app is now available via the Android app store as well.

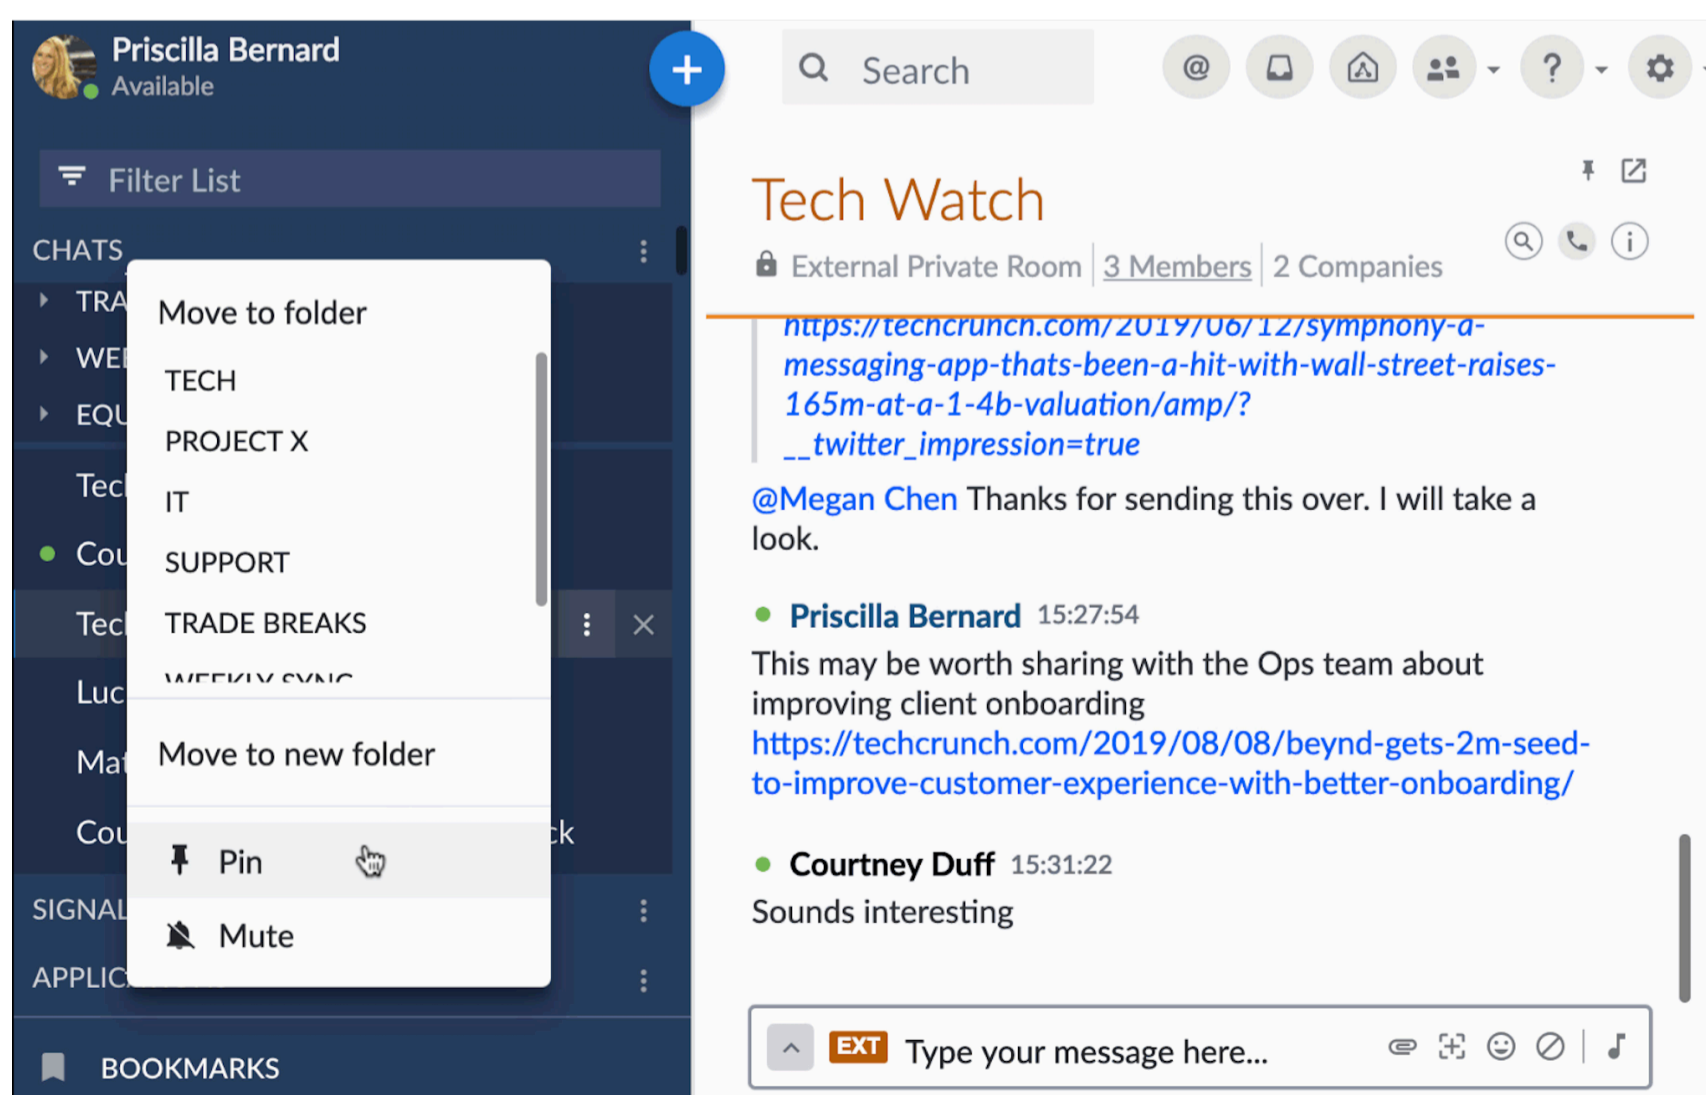

Now Symphony users on Android can start a meeting with one tap, move seamlessly from a chat to a meeting and join a meeting as easily as if they were answering a phone call—all via mobile device.

Quickly Surface Important Conversations

In a fast-paced environment, users need to keep track of important conversations. Our pinned chats feature allows users to keep conversations at the top of their chat lists for easy references. To pin chats:

1. Navigate to your conversation
2. Select the “more options” icon
3. Select Pin

Accelerate Incident Resolution with PagerDuty for Symphony

Organizations use PagerDuty in Symphony to resolve technical problems more efficiently. Symphony's aim is to reduce context switching and avoid workflow disruptions. Benefits of this integration include:

Restore critical business services quickly by bringing real-time, multiparty collaboration to incident management.

Improve team productivity and speed by empowering people to collaborate and stay informed at all times, without having to shift to an out-of-band communication tool like email.

Work faster and more flexibly by handling incident management actions and notifications the way each team member chooses—GUI or direct chat, desktop or mobile.

Get to Know a Bot - Jarvis by T. Rowe Price & ServiceNow

Communication is critical and costly when incidents are not handled properly. The Jarvis Bot enables the use of two-way integration between platforms. The bot can query incidents and statuses in real-time. When an incident is created, Jarvis automatically initiates a chat room, including relevant parties and up to date information to save time and resources. This helps reduce errors, saves time, and helps solve crises quickly.
